BUILDING WORK

Court House Construction to Be Renewed.

BOOM IS A BRISK VERY ONE

Residences and Business Blocks Are Going Up On All Sides--Park Avenue a Favorite.

Among the guests in the city yesterday was H. M. Patterson of Butte, supervising architect of the new court house for Deer Lodge county. Mr. Patterson's mission in Anaconda at this time is for the purpose of arranging with Messrs. Dolan and Hamill, the contractors, for the resumption of the work of construction as soon as the weather will permit. All of the excavating has been done and the basement walls completed up to the sills. Some of the interior brick walls have been laid so that the work of laying the upper walls can be pushed in good shape. If the weather will permit work will be resumed on February 1 or thereabouts. Sandstone from Billings, which will be used in the outside of the upper walls, has been arriving for the past 60 days. The building will be a magnificent one.

On West Park avenue a gang of stonecutters are preparing the granite stone sills and front trimmings for the Masonic-Odd Fellows' temple. This building will be erected early in the spring. The foundation has been completed except the granite front and this is being put in now. The building will be of brick and stone trimmings. A glance at the plans prove that it will be a model of beauty and will make one of the most commodious and best lodge halls in Montana.

The brick work of the annex to St. Ann's hospital will be all laid in a short time. Nearly all of the lathing has been done. The contract for the plastering will be let within a week. It is the belief that the building will be finished inside of 90 days and a portion of it before that time. The interior and particularly the operating rooms will have tile floors and wainscoting as well as the latest other improvements, thus making the work much slower than on an ordinary building.

A well known contractor told an Inter Mountain reporter this morning that he never saw as good indications for a prosperous year in the building line as 1899 bid fair to be. He said:

"Now you would not think this true owing to the dullness of the times but such was the case. Anaconda is experiencing an awful quietness at present, still people call in large numbers and ask for estimates on the construction of buildings of character, business blocks, lodging houses, private residences, in fact all kinds of structures."

He said he was confident it was not all talk and could give the names of some of the parties and buildings contemplated only it was too soon for publication.

Park avenue is the coming street in the Copper City. Every indication points that way and the business is gradually going that way. Several valuable pieces of real estate have changed hands on the avenue during the past 90 days and some is now held on option at a high figure. Judging from what can be heard here and there on the curbstone some pretty large buildings will be erected on Park avenue this coming summer that will knock those already built clear into the shade.

There is the Washoe Copper company. All eyes are on that concern. They have erected the largest lumber yard plant in the state in East Anaconda and are not through building down there yet. The buildings so far erected will soon be treated to a coat of red paint. Every one is expecting to see the work of excavating for the new smelter commenced any day. The general offices of the Washoe Copper company in the old library building look like a bee hive with the number of draughtsmen and others who are preparing the plans for the new smelter. Were it not for what the people anticipate from the Washoe company the town would be still more quiet in a business way, but nearly everyone has confidence in the future and this helps to stimulate trade in every channel.

SANTI'S CRIME

Jim Santi, who shot Robert Hamilton is held a prisoner in the county jail on the charge of assault in the first degree. The information was filed by County Attorney Duffy before Justice of the Peace Boland. Three witnesses, Tony Franco, Wm. Vidler and Tillie Carr are held as witnesses. They were brought into the same court and held as witnesses in the sum of $500 bonds each which they could not furnish and are now in jail. Tillie Carr is the woman over whom the shooting occurred. As near as can be learned Franco was the man Santi intended to kill. Before the shooting Franco was in the same room with Santi and the woman. Franco was sent out after a growler of beer. While he was absent, the Carr woman told Santi that Franco often came to see her during his (Santi's) absence. This made Santi hostile and when Franco was about to enter on his return with the beer Santi came out gun in hand. Franco ran like a deer and was soon around a corner. Santi gave chase and encountered Hamilton, an innocent party, in the alley whom he shot down like a dog. This is the latest story of the affair and it is more than likely to be correct. Hamilton is still alive. His right eye was removed yesterday. Another drainage tube was put in the wound. Santi may be arraigned today.

WATCH IN A SHIRT-STUD.

When this season's society girl decided to have her shirt-waists made with bosoms she found herself in a quandary as to how she would dispose of her watch. To wear it with a chain, tucked in her belt or collar, was too feminine altogether. She could not trust it in at the front of the shirt without marring its glossy stiffness. Fashion said no pockets, and yet she must have a timepiece in order to be just sufficiently late for her social appointments. One very original girl found her way through the dilemma by ordering a watch to be set in a shirt-stud, says Demorest's Magazine for January. The face of this tiny timekeeper was no larger than an ordinary enameled stud, the works being placed in a good-sized shank fastening to the stud from the under side. Stud-watches at $25 and $30 are already a fad for the tailor-made girl.

BEAUTY'S HAND-MAID.

The society girl laughs when you tell her that "beauty is only skin-deep" for she knows full well it isn't even that. Beauty, however well groomed and well turned out, is really at the mercy of both wind and weather. A hat a little awry, a coquettish lock out of curl, an oily skin, or a row of cinder decoration, and beauty is humbled. Hence it has become very much the thing for a fashionable girl to carry about, deftly hidden out of sight, a tiny mirror, which tells her the truth about herself, as not even her dearest foe would dare to say Demorest's Magazine. This first aid to the injured beauty may be seen in umbrella handles, fitted in the side of a longnette, in the back of the bon-bon box, and in the top of a metal purse. When a chateleine is worn the bon-bon box is invariably filled with powder.

NO JURY SECURED

Sheppard Case is Still on at the Court House.

SIX VENIRES WERE ISSUED

But as Yet Only Eleven Men Have Been Accepted--More Challenges Are Yet to Come.

All day yesterday was spent in an attempt to secure a jury in the Sheppard murder case, but without success. Before noon the regular venire of 35 names was exhausted. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a special venire composed of the following names, appeared: Edward Johnson, W. H. Weaver, John H. Hoelt, James Munson, Hugh Gilchrist, F. L. Frederickson, J. C. Kepler, Elmer Gilbeau, William Scha, William M. Thornton, R. B. Turner, Michael Nealon, F. E. Stone, John J. Wegener and James D. McKay. At 4:15 p. m. this venire was exhausted and a second special venire of six names was called, but only three of them could be found--Joe Sladich, W. A. Law and W. S. Cameron. Messrs Law and Cameron had formed opinions and were excused. The jury being incomplete, a third special venire of 10 names was drawn and made returnable at 9:30 this morning.

At noon today a jury has not been secured in the Sheppard murder case. The fourth special venire of 10 names was returned this morning. The names were John Krogstad, James Ahern, T. W. Reynolds, John Merrill, T. D. Sullivan, P. F. Layton, John I. Muster, M. D. Reid, Ray Richards and Andrew Lock. The last six could not be found. Others were excused, leaving the jury still incomplete. The fifth special venire composed of N. O. Edgman, Gilbert Berrier, T. E. Lynch, C. Sturmgale, and Call Campbell was called and only Mr. Edgman was found. It was now 11 o'clock and the sixth special venire of ten names was given to the sheriff and made returnable after noon. The names of the last venire are D. C. Scott, George Strachen, James Turtile, G. A. Shoemaker, Emil Thomas, Austin Sloan, J. T. Dolan, Jesse Dodge, James Gillespie and John Pozoga. Eleven jurors have been secured with two more challenges to be made.

The case of the State against James Edwards, charged with embezzlement, was dismissed on motion of County Attorney Duffy who said there was not sufficient evidence to convict.

In the estate of Lucinda Ditts, deceased, the administrator was authorized to compromise the claim of William Ditts.
